NATURE OF WORK	This is complex paralegal work involved in performing several distinct, but related, functions such as research, compilation and annotation of codes, laws, opinions and court reports; drafting of simple pleadings; conducting interviews of witnesses and/or clients; managing a case system for one or more types of legal specialties within the Department of Law. Employees in this class perform the full range of paralegal duties, including independent work in specialized areas of the profession.
ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE OF WORK	Researches, analyzes and indexes public laws for publication and placement in the proper permanent, codified law. Prepares updates of the laws, codes, and administrative rules of the government of Guam. Compiles existing laws for restatement in new forms of codification. Performs different types of legal research; organizes, analyzes, summarizes and compiles case information for case assessment, reporting trial or other such use as requested by the responsible attorney. Drafts bills, pleadings, resolutions, correspondence and other documents. Organizes and maintains case management systems as directed; for example all cases and their status in the area of child and spouse support. Conducts interviews for gathering of basic information. Answers questions from other government agencies and from the public matters with which employee is dealing. Performs related duties as required.
KNOWLEDGE, ABILITIES &amp; SKILLS	Knowledge of the principles, methods and practices of legal research. Knowledge of relevant law. Knowledge of administrative and court procedures. Ability to apply pertinent laws, rules and regulations. Ability to appraise and organize facts and to present evidence and material in effective written and oral form. Ability to draft simple affidavits, pleadings, stipulations, and other legal documents and to prepare appropriate correspondence. Ability to communicate effectively, orally and in writing. Ability to work effectively with employees, clients and the public. Ability to make clear and concise oral and written reports and maintain reports.
MINIMUM EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS	All new employees (defined as excluding current government of Guam employees, or former government of Guam who are eligible for re-employment or reappointment), shall be required to have a high school diploma or equivalent as allowed by Public Law 29-113 when applying for a position, with the exception of those positions listed on the list approved by Attorney General.
DOCUMENTATION REQUIREMENTS	Applicants claiming educational accomplishments are required to submit official or verified copies of transcripts or diplomas. The diploma, degree, or credits required must come from an education institution that is accredited or recognized by either its government or a government recognized accrediting agency. This applies to all new employment after October 1, 2008 pursuant to Public Law 29-113. If you wish to claim for any preference points, please read the employment application General instruction page for additional information. If you have any questions, please contact Administration Division at 475-3324 extension 5110/5115/5120.
